Folsom, Calif - December 13, 2002 — Man's best friend is the latest weapon in the war on mold.

Meet Sydney, she is certified to detect mold.

While popular in Europe for years, mold-sniffing dogs are relatively new in the US.

One big advantage is cost.

Traditional detection methods can drag on for weeks at a cost of up to thousands of dollars.

Dogs reportedly can do it for less than 5-hundred dollars and pinpoint exactly where the mold is.
